

Samworth Academy Wins Civic Trust Award

We are proud to announce that our Samworth Academy project has recently been awarded a Civic Trust Award.

The new academy for 3 – 16 year olds provides religious and sporting facilities, and is open to the community outside school hours. Located in a difficult borough, the school is acting as a catalyst for community integration. A central street connects three different wings, with the communal dining hall and new church located at the entrance. Both spaces are used by the community, and the dining room in particular is well lit, colourful and open. Natural lighting is maximized with large areas of glazing to one wall in each room. Clustering space is provided by the courtyards, and overall spatial distribution and flexibility are good, providing a surprising sense of community for such a large building.

Well done to the site team.
